Pa. Boulevard Improvement To Aid County Modernization Will Aid Residents In Commuting

Lower Bucks county motorists traveling to and from Philadelphia will be expedited when plans are completed to transform Roosevelt blvd. into a modern streamlined highway.

Elimination of the current bottleneck at Oxford Circle and six others are highlights of the program, which involves transforming a three-and-a-quarter mile stretch to provide one-way traffic in two center roads and five new full-width bridge crossings instead of the "hour-glass" effects which now slow traffic.

A depressed highway will carry through boulevard traffic under Oxford circle without narrowing the main roadbeds, preliminary plans now begun, reveal.

The Public Utility Commission has granted authorization for the project where it will affect three trolley crossings—at 5th and 2nd streets, and at Rising Sun avenue. The State Highway Department is readying a call for bids for the main portion of the $6,000,000 project.

First Time

For the first time in borough history the summer recreation program will be run jointly by the Recreation Board and the School Board.

May Restoration Lifeguards At Silver Lake Sites 'No Swimming' Signs Posted Throughout Area

Bristol Blood Donors declared today that they are "appalled" at the number of children and grown-ups who are using Silver Lake for bathing despite repeated warnings of the water's contamination.

The Donors meet this week to consider the re-stationing of lifeguards at the lake beach.

Results of a "population" survey taken at 6:30 p. m. Sunday, at the lake, showed:

On the borough side of the lake 157 cars including 35 with New Jersey tags. Signs on this side of the lake read "Swimming at Your Own Risk."

On the township side of the lake, 45 cars, including 10 from New Jersey. Signs on this side of the lake read "No Swimming."

Conservative estimates place the number of occupants per car as four, said the Donors. This would give a total number of 988 persons, only 108 of whom came in out-of-state cars. Many Bristol borough and township people were recognized at the lake, the Donors declared. The rescue unit pointed out that the survey was taken at other than a "peak" hour.

The decision of the Donors to consider re-establishment of a life guard station at the beach came after the group contacted Bristol Burgess I. J. Hetherington, Sr., who according to the Donors, Continued on Page Six

Hope Abandoned Here This Year For Bathing Area State Aid Sought To Find Solution

Hopes for a local swimming area for the people of lower Bucks county, and particularly Bristol area residents, were crushed last night.

1. Not only the waters of Silver Lake but the waters of all the lake's tributaries including Mill Creek, Queen Anne Creek, and Black Ditch, draining 20 square miles of lower Bucks county, are "highly polluted." This is the first confirmation by the State Department of Health of the widespread condition.

2. A swimming pool for the people of Bristol is not expected to be constructed this year.

The Bristol borough-Bristol township Committee on Silver Lake, meeting last night at the Municipal building to discuss the report of George A. Elias, State district sanitary engineer, announced they had found no method of combating the pollution.

Need Help

Court Rules Men Must Remove Falls Auto Junkyard

Edward G. Biester, sitting as Chancellor, in Equity Court, Friday, handed down an adjudication in the Falls Township versus Edward Wisniewski and Anthony DeSando automobile graveyard case enjoining them from conducting their business of storing abandoned or junked automobiles, demolishing, wrecking and selling the parts at their site in Falls township.

Judge Biester ruled that the two defendants must remove all their cars within 60 days and the costs must be paid by the two defendants.

Falls Township Supervisors, in a bill of complaint in Equity Court, alleged that the automobile junk yard constitutes a public nuisance. A public nuisance ordinance was enacted May 6, 1952, by the Falls Township Supervisors.

Judge Biester substantiated the evidence that the automobile junk yard was a public nuisance.

Two tracts of land in Falls township, along Oxford Valley road, comprising three or four acres, were acquired June 21, 1923, by Stefan and Katarzyna Wisniewski. Edward Wisniewski, one of the two defendants, is a son of Edward and Katarzyna Wisniewski, and Anthony DeSando is a son-in-law of the original owners.

Falls Township Supervisors testified that the defendants used an old school bus as an office, that 87 cars were parked there in July, 1952, and 38 in December, 1952. They further alleged that between 300 and 350 cars were in the "automobile graveyard" and that a liquid was poured over them to burn out the upholstery. Clouds of smoke and bad odors hung over the countryside because of the burning out processes, the Falls Township Supervisors testified.

Results of a "population" survey taken at 6:30 p. m. Sunday, at the lake, showed:

On the borough side of the lake 157 cars including 35 with New Jersey tags. Signs on this side of the lake read "Swimming at Your Own Risk."

On the township side of the lake, 45 cars, including 10 from New Jersey. Signs on this side of the lake read "No Swimming."

Conservative estimates place the number of occupants per car as four, said the Donors. This would give a total number of 988 persons, only 108 of whom came in out-of-state cars. Many Bristol borough and township people were recognized at the lake, the Donors declared. The rescue unit pointed out that the survey was taken at other than a "peak" hour.

The decision of the Donors to consider re-establishment of a life guard station at the beach came after the group contacted Bristol Burgess I. J. Hetherington, Sr., who according to the Donors, Continued on Page Six

Hope Abandoned Here This Year For Bathing Area

State Aid Sought To Find Solution

Hopes for a local swimming area for the people of lower Bucks county, and particularly Bristol area residents, were crushed last night.

1. Not only the waters of Silver Lake but the waters of all the lake's tributaries including Mill Creek, Queen Anne Creek, and Black Ditch, draining 20 square miles of lower Bucks county, are "highly polluted." This is the first confirmation by the State Department of Health of the widespread condition.

2. A swimming pool for the people of Bristol is not expected to be constructed this year.

The Bristol borough-Bristol township Committee on Silver Lake, meeting last night at the Municipal building to discuss the report of George A. Elias, State district sanitary engineer, announced they had found no method of combating the pollution.

Need Help

"We need help from the State Health Department, and from anyone else who can give it," I. J. Hetherington, Sr., Bristol burgess and chairman of the joint committee declared following the meeting.

At the meeting last night which was closed to the public the results of the 12 tests run by the State at "widely separated points" were thoroughly discussed according to committee members.

The report, said the committee, covered tests made in the lake. Continued on Page Two

Court Rules Men Must Remove Falls Auto Junkyard

Edward G. Blester, sitting as Chancellor, in Equity Court, Friday, handed down an adjudication in the Falls Township versus Edward Wisniewski and Anthony DeSando automobile graveyard case enjoining them from conducting their business of storing abandoned or junked automobiles, demolishing, wrecking and selling the parts at their site in Falls township.

Judge Blester ruled that the two defendants must remove all their cars within 60 days and the costs must be paid by the two defendants.

Falls Township Supervisors, in a bill of complaint in Equity Court, alleged that the automobile junk yard constitutes a public nuisance. A public nuisance ordinance was enacted May 6, 1952, by the Falls Township Supervisors.

Judge Blester substantiated the evidence that the automobile junk yard was a public nuisance.

Two tracts of land in Falls township, along Oxford Valley road, comprising three or four acres, were acquired June 21, 1928, by Stefan and Katarzyna Wisniewski. Edward Wisniewski, one of the two defendants, is a son of Edward and Katarzyna Wisniewski, and Anthony DeSando is a son-in-law of the original owners.

Falls Township Supervisors testified that the defendants used an old school bus as an office, that 87 cars were parked there in July, 1952, and 38 in December, 1952. They further alleged that between 300 and 350 cars were in the "automobile graveyard" and that a liquid was poured over them to burn out the upholstery. Clouds of smoke and bad odors hung over the countryside because of the burning out processes, the Falls Township Supervisors testified.

MOON PLANTING

There is no question that the moon has and can influence people. Scientists can explain a gravitational conflict between sun and moon that has something to do with the waxing and ebbing tides of the ocean. Without benefit of science, any observer appreciates that the moon in June has definite effects on human action. A lady, a lass and a full moon have been a pleasant trio since the days when man first began to wonder about the world about him.

A modern, scientific farmer should probably scoff at moon influence. According to ancient lore, those crops which grow underground thrive best when the seeds are planted in the waning phase, especially during the third quarter. Crops which mature above the soil surface should be planted while the new moon is waxing.

The Babylonians constructed the foundation for the science of astronomy 4,000 years ago. The Egyptians had a system for correlating the health and various parts of the human body to an astronomical setup, and the Greeks correlated animals and growing plants to a zodiac plan which involved the sun, moon and eight great planets.

Agricultural scientists take a dim view of moon influence. They say it is simply ancient folklore handed down the corridor of time. In 1563 Thomas Hyll of England wrote a piece, "A Most Briefe and Pleasant Treatise, Teaching how to dress, sow and set a Garden," in which he places emphasis on moon influence. He especially warns "The Full Moones are not good . . . The Moone beyan neare the Dragons Tayle is not good. But neare the Dragons hed is good."

Many a gardener, while insisting that he is not superstitious, finds no reason for not planting beets, potatoes and carrots in the waning days, and sweet corn, peas and muskmelons in the waxing time. After all, the latter three are very important and a man might as well do all he can to assure success.

self, Mill Creek, Queen Anne Creek, and Black ditch. All bodies of water were found to be "highly polluted" in roughly the same amount according to the State's bacteriological analysis. The report further stated, said the committee, that: "This office (State Department of Health) would discourage bathing in this lake."

No Plans Yet

The committee declared that it was continuing to function to find some means of combatting the pollution problem. The committee announced, however, that it had "no plans for solution as yet."

All Drain Here

The tributaries of Silver lake drain Lower Makefield township, portions of Falls township including Fairless Hills, portions of Middletown township, Langhorne Manor, Langhorne, Pennel, Bristol township, and most of Levittown in Bristol township.

As one committee member said, "We're all going to have to get together to lick this problem." Bristol borough and Bristol township seem to be on the receiving end of all the water from these other townships and boroughs, and we're the only ones who seem to worry about it."

Hetherington emphasized that the borough and the township have undertaken the problem "jointly." The Borough recreation board, also meeting at the Municipal building, discussed plans for the borough swimming pool. The plans now are in the "pencil" stage, according to Councilman Nicholas V. Pascale.

"We are studying tentative plans for construction of a swimming pool in Bristol to accommodate about 700 children. The pool is in the offing for next year," stated Horace Jefferies, secretary of the Recreation Board.

In seconds, she'll be talking with a new grandmother in Chicago!

The time required to reach a telephone in a distant state has been cut way, way down. It used to take anywhere from 10 minutes to half an hour, or even more, before the operator could complete your call. Now you can usually measure the time in seconds!

How did all this happen? Through ceaseless research that produced hundreds of new developments, each of which had to say "yes" to these two difficult test questions:

1. Would it improve the quality of telephone service?
2. Would it aid in keeping costs under control?

We'll never stop using those two tests—because there will always be new answers for the problem they help us meet: how to give you constantly better telephone service at the lowest possible cost.

MOON PLANTING

There is no question that the moon has and can influence people. Scientists can explain a gravitational conflict between sun and moon that has something to do with the waxing and ebbing tides of the ocean. Without benefit of science, any observer appreciates that the moon in June has definite effects on human action. A lady and a full moon have been a pleasant trio since the days when man first began to wonder about the world about him.

A modern, scientific farmer should probably scoff at moon influence. According to ancient lore, those crops which grow underground thrive best when the seeds are planted in the waning phase, especially during the third quarter. Crops which mature above the soil surface should be planted while the new moon is waxing.

The Babylonians constructed the foundation for the science of astronomy 4,000 years ago. The Egyptians had a system for correlating the health and various parts of the human body to an astronomical setup, and the Greeks correlated animals and growing plants to a zodiac plan which involved the sun, moon and eight great planets.

Agricultural scientists take a dim view of moon influence. They say it is simply ancient folklore handed down the corridor of time. In 1563 Thomas Hyll of England wrote a piece, "A Most Briefe and Pleasant Treatise, Teachyng how to dress, sow and set a Garden," in which he places emphasis on moon influence. He especially warns "The Full Moones are not good . . . The Moone beyan neare the Dragons Tayle is not good. But neare the Dragons hed is good."

Many a gardener, while insisting that he is not superstitious, finds no reason for not planting beets, potatoes and carrots in the waning days, and sweet corn, peas and muskmelons in the waxing time. After all, the latter three are very important and a man might as well do all he can to assure success.

NEWS of the LEVITTOWN COMMUNITY

Levittown Growth May Be Cut in Half By 'Hard Money'

LEVITTOWN, June 23 — Production here in 1954 may have to be trimmed 50 per cent, William J. Levitt, president of Levitt & Sons, Inc., said yesterday, because of the new "hard money" policy being effected by the federal government.

"No builder is able to plan for 1954 because of inability to get financing from the banks," Levitt said, adding that unless financing is provided, builders cannot plan houses. "I think we may be able to build as many as 3,000 houses," he remarked. Original plans call for 6,000 to be erected in 1954.

The "hard money" policy, started last year to combat inflation has taken millions of dollars from the builders and drawn them into government bonds, Levitt said.

Production will go ahead this year with a full 6,000 units, Levitt said. There are now 4,000 houses in the new development.

The master builder expressed this opinion in Washington, D. C., last week, testifying before the Senate Banking Committee.

Meadow Lace

a new pattern by Haviland

Meadow Lace has a delicate wild flower design in soft shades of pink, gold and brown. Not from the royal rose garden, but from the familiar roadside comes the humble flower which provided inspiration for this pattern. Every child knows Queen Anne's Lace, with its dainty parasol of miniature flowers. Meadow Lace has the Queen Anne's flowerhead and other dainty motifs reminiscent of the silken seeds of the dandelion and other field blossoms which drift in the wind.

Token Session Set Today As House Reviews Budget

HARRISBURG — (INS) — The house will hold token session today preparatory to a full-dress review of the budget statement following a meeting of Republican legislative chieftains.

Senate and House GOP leaders are scheduled to confer today on ways to escape the tax dilemma while Democrats meet with party functionaries to discuss what aid can be offered the embattled Republicans.

House GOP majority leader Albert W. Johnson, of McKean, scheduled the tax review by the 109-member House caucus before a recess started June 11.

The Senate met one and half days last week and quit until tomorrow to permit its leaders to learn what proposals for settlement of the tax issue will be advanced by the House where all revenue-raising legislation must originate by law.

Failure of the leaders of the GOP-dominated general assembly to work out a program of taxes to substitute for the one per cent general sales tax beaten on a roll call vote will mean the Senate's proposal to adjourn finally July 2 will be spiked for good.

House Democrat floor leader Hiram G. Andrews, of Cambria, who has offered to contribute some votes to Republicans on certain taxes excepting the sales levy, believes since die adjournment will not be a reality until September.

Republicans are hunting about 118 million dollars in new revenue which Gov. John S. Fine needs to balance a 1.4 billion dollar plus budget for the 1953-55 biennium which began 22 days ago.

25th Anniversary is Observed by C.D.A.

Members of Court Bristol, No. 1097, Catholic Daughters of America, met at the Hildebrecht Hotel, Trenton, N. J., on Saturday to celebrate the 25th anniversary of their club's organization.

The ballroom was gaily decorated and dinner was served to 150 members and guests. The menu consisted of: Fruit Cup, Florida, hearts of celery, olives, radishes, French onion soup, banquet rolls, butter, roast turkey, giblet gravy, cranberry sauce, potato croquette, succotash, tossed salad, Russian dressing, frozen éclair with chocolate sauce and coffee.

Grace was offered by the Rev. E. Paul Baird, chaplain, and pastor of St. Mark's R. C. Church. The national anthem was sung by the group, led by Percy G. Ford. Music was furnished by the Mickey Palmer Trio. Between courses group singing honored the former and present grand regents of the Court.

The first grand regent was Mrs. Mary McVain (1928 to 1931); those following: Miss Anita Lynn (1931-33), Mrs. Marie G. Roche (1933-36), Mrs. Marie Moore (1936-38), Miss Julia K. McFadden (1938-41-42-47), Mrs. Margaret Murphy (1941-42-52-53), Mrs. Kathryn Wilkins now of Rancocas, N. J. (1947-48), Mrs. Mary Brill (1948-49) now of Ardmore; Miss Alice Burns (1949-1951), Mrs. Irene Stackhouse (1951-52), Newtown; also honored was the Rev. Baird, chaplain since 1932 and the Rev. James J. Sullivan, first chaplain in 1928, the Rev. John J. Burns, also a former chaplain, Bethlehem.

The Rev. James J. Sullivan now serves as chaplain at St. Vincent's Hospital, Phila. He commented that he was happy to have played a small part in the organization of Court Bristol, that it is an asset to the parish, and he can see it has been successful through the years. He thanked the women for remembering him and St. Vincent's by

Today's Quiet Moment

By the
Rev. Stanley A. Powell, Jr., R. D.
Vicar of St. Paul's Episcopal
Church (Edgely-Levittown
Parish)

"The Pharisee stood and prayed thus with himself: 'God, I thank thee, that I am not as other men are, extortioners, unjust, adulterers or even as this publican.'" (St. Luke 18:11)

Perhaps the words "prayed thus with himself" are the key words of this passage. Prayer is an act of worship. Prayer with oneself is self-worship. Someone has cited self-worship as the "activity of isolation." Here is the most rampant form of idolatry and you don't have to be a Pharisee to be involved in it.

It was Martin Luther who wrote: "I must either have God or an idol." The truth of this statement is attested by our study of the commandments in confirmation class. Usually, the class feels that they are pretty safe when we discuss the commandment: "I am the Lord thy God, thou shalt have none other gods but me." "Oh, yes," they will agree. "People who live in India and China will have to watch their step." Then each of the students is taken out of the room one by one to see "one of the other gods." They come back to the classroom with a look of recognition on their face. They have just looked into a mirror.

So this part of our Lord's parable is a tragedy. The tragedy of being isolated and not knowing it. It is bad enough to be isolated from one's fellows but to be isolated from God is intolerable. The miserable Pharisee was locked in the prison of his own self-righteousness and didn't even know he was there.

"O God of Peace, who has taught us that in returning and rest we shall be saved, in quietness and in confidence shall be our strength; By the might of thy spirit, lift us we pray thee, to thy presence, where we may be still and know that thou art God; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen."

annual donations of garments to the hospital.

Miss Frances Maher, supreme regent of the National Organization, was saluted in song. She reminded the women that they are a part of 200,000 members in America and other parts of the world. The C. D. 25th Anniversary is Observed by C.D.A.

Members of Court Bristol, No. 1097, Catholic Daughters of America, met at the Hildebrecht Hotel, Trenton, N. J., on Saturday to celebrate the 25th anniversary of their club's organization.

The ballroom was gaily decorated and dinner was served to 150 members and guests. The menu consisted of: Fruit Cup Florida, hearts of celery, olives, radishes, French onion soup, banquet rolls, butter, roast turkey, giblet gravy, cranberry sauce, potato croquette, succotash, tossed salad, Russian dressing, frozen éclair with chocolate sauce and coffee.

Grace was offered by the Rev. E. Paul Baird, chaplain, and pastor of St. Mark's R. C. Church. The national anthem was sung by the group, led by Percy G. Ford. Music was furnished by the Mickey Palmer Trio. Between courses group singing honored the former and present grand regents of the Court.

The first grand regent was Mrs. Mary McIlvain (1928 to 1931); those following: Miss Anita Lynn (1931-33), Mrs. Marie G. Roche (1933-36), Mrs. Marie Moore (1936-38), Miss Julia K. McFadden (1938-41-42-47), Mrs. Margaret Murphy (1941-42-52-53), Mrs. Kathryn Wilkins now of Rancocas, N. J. (1947-48), Mrs. Mary Brill (1948-49) now of Ardmore; Miss Alice Burns (1949-1951), Mrs. Irene Stackhouse (1951-52), Newtown; also honored was the Rev. Baird, chaplain since 1932 and the Rev. James J. Sullivan, first chaplain in 1928, the Rev. John J. Burns, also a former chaplain, Bethlehem.

The Rev. James J. Sullivan now serves as chaplain at St. Vincent's Hospital, Phila. He commented that he was happy to have played a small part in the organization of Court Bristol, that it is an asset to the parish, and he can see it has been successful through the years. He thanked the women for remembrance of him, and St. Vincent's by

By the
Rev. Stanley A. Powell, Jr., R. D.
Vicar of St. Paul's Episcopal
Church (Edgely-Levittown
Parish)

"The Pharisee stood and prayed thus with himself: 'God, I thank thee, that I am not as other men are, extortioners, unjust, adulterers or even as this publican.'" (St. Luke 18:11)

Perhaps the words "prayed thus with himself" are the key words of this passage. Prayer is an act of worship. Prayer with oneself is self-worship. Someone has cited self-worship as the "activity of isolation." Here is the most rampant form of idolatry and you don't have to be a Pharisee to be involved in it.

It was Martin Luther who wrote: "I must either have God or an idol." The truth of this statement is attested by our study of the commandments in confirmation class. Usually, the class feels that they are pretty safe when we discuss the commandment: "I am the Lord thy God, thou shalt have none other gods but me." "Oh, yes," they will agree. "People who live in India and China will have to watch their step." Then each of the students is taken out of the room one by one to see "one of the other gods." They come back to the classroom with a look of recognition on their face. They have just looked into a mirror.

So this part of our Lord's parable is a tragedy. The tragedy of being isolated and not knowing it. It is bad enough to be isolated from one's fellows but to be isolated from God is intolerable. The miserable pharisee was locked in the prison of his own self-righteousness and didn't even know he was there.

"O God of Peace, who has taught us that in returning and rest we shall be saved, in quietness and in confidence shall be our strength: By the might of thy spirit, lift us we pray thee, to thy presence, where we may be still and know that thou art God; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen."

Natural Scientists Visit at Longwood

NEWTOWN, June 23 — Thirty-three people from Newtown and vicinity journeyed to Longwood Gardens, in seven automobiles, June 20th under leadership of Stephen Chrym, president of Bucks Co. Natural Science Association.

The Water Garden was laid out with a plan taken from Florence, Italy. The flower garden with its winding steps, splashing fountains and crystal gazing ball, and the rose section, were a marked contrast to the remarkable setting of evergreens. Bald cypress trees with their knees vied for interest and many are the large holly trees and mulberries heavy with fruit. The true cedars of Asiatic origin were most interesting with their many cones. Some of the hemlock trees have lived over a century. Two white pines have survived from their 1800 planting. The copper beeches are of great size and beauty. A ginkgo tree over three feet in diameter is said to be one of the original trees imported to this country.

The tropical splendor of the conservatories alone was deemed worth the trip. The orchid section was exquisite, the espalier fruit trees noteworthy. The Gloxinia display was regal and the gray green acacia trees delicately beautiful. The Chenille or red hot cattail (acalyphe) was new to most, but was recognized as a Christmas decoration offered in stores.

Drivers of the cars, who made possible the trip, were Miss Jane Meredith, Mrs. William S. Randall, Mrs. Thomas Flanagan, Robert Ely, Russell Janney, Lester Smith, Stevenson W. Fletcher, Jr.

said he deems it advisable to have some protection at the lake if area residents are going to continue using it for bathing purposes.

If they set up a lift-guard station, the Donors point out, this does not mean they will supervise swimming at the lake or in any way sanction swimming there, on either the township or borough side of the lake.

"The public disregard for the condition at the lake which has been so well publicized is posing a problem for officials of both the township and the borough," the donors declared.
